What Documents Do You Need for a Minor Spelling Correction?

For minor spelling corrections, you need only your government-issued photo ID showing the correct spelling. This is typically your driver's license, state ID, or passport. The agent at +1 855 203 2961 asks you to describe the correct name as shown on your ID and verifies it verbally during the call. In most cases, you do not need to send a copy of the ID for corrections. The verbal description is sufficient for minor fixes like typos and transposed letters. Call +1 855 203 2961 with your ID in hand.

If the correction is borderline between minor and substantial, the agent at +1 855 203 2961 may request a digital copy of your ID emailed to Delta's verification address. This is more common for corrections involving multiple characters or corrections on international tickets where passport matching is critical. Call +1 855 203 2961 and have your ID accessible both physically for description and digitally for potential emailing.

What Documents Do You Need for a Post-Marriage Name Change?

For post-marriage name changes, prepare two documents before calling +1 855 203 2961. First, your marriage certificate showing both your maiden name and your new married name with the marriage date. Second, your updated government ID (driver's license or passport) showing your new married name. If your ID has not been updated yet to your married name, keep the ticket in your maiden name until the ID update is complete. Call +1 855 203 2961 and the agent may ask you to email a scanned copy of the marriage certificate to Delta's document verification address.

If your marriage certificate is in a language other than English, a certified English translation may be required. Certified translations can be obtained from professional translation services or consular offices. Call +1 855 203 2961 before paying for a translation to confirm whether one is actually needed for your specific document format, as some common certificate formats from major countries are recognized without translation.

What Documents Do You Need for a Post-Divorce Name Reversion?

For post-divorce name reversions, prepare your divorce decree that includes a name reversion provision plus your updated government ID showing your reverted name. The decree must specifically state that your name is restored to your pre-marriage name or a specific new name. If your decree does not include a name reversion provision, a separate court order for name change may be required. Call +1 855 203 2961 and describe your decree to the agent for a determination of whether it is sufficient.

Some divorce decrees automatically revert the name as part of the standard decree language, while others require a specific request for name reversion during the divorce proceedings. If your decree does not address name reversion at all, obtaining a separate court order for name change is the standard path. Call +1 855 203 2961 and the agent advises on next steps based on your specific document content.

What Documents Do You Need for a Court-Ordered Name Change?

For court-ordered name changes, prepare the court order document specifying your old name and new name, signed and dated by a judge, plus your updated government ID. Court orders for gender transition, personal preference, and any other legally recognized reason are treated identically by Delta. The agent at +1 855 203 2961 verifies the document and processes the change. Emailing a scanned copy may be required. Call +1 855 203 2961 with the court order accessible for verification.

If the court order is from a foreign jurisdiction and in a language other than English, a certified translation is typically required. The translation must be performed by a certified translation service and include a certification statement. Call +1 855 203 2961 and confirm translation requirements before incurring translation costs.

How Do You Submit Documents to Delta?

When the agent at +1 855 203 2961 requests a document copy, they provide a specific Delta email address for document submission. Scan or photograph the document clearly, ensuring all text is legible, then email it to the provided address with your confirmation code in the subject line. The agent may process the name change during the call pending document verification, or may hold the change until the document is received and verified. Processing after email submission typically takes 1-2 business days. Call +1 855 203 2961 and ask the agent whether they can process immediately or need to wait for email verification.

For fastest processing, have digital copies of your documents ready before calling +1 855 203 2961. Photograph or scan your marriage certificate, divorce decree, or court order in advance and save it on your phone or computer. When the agent provides the email address, send the document immediately during the call. This eliminates the delay of preparing documents after the call. Call +1 855 203 2961 with digital documents ready for same-call processing.

What If Your ID Shows a Different Format Than Your Ticket?

Name format differences between ID types are common and do not always require a name change. Your driver's license might show "JOHN M SMITH" while your passport shows "JOHN MICHAEL SMITH" in the visual field. For domestic travel, minor format differences are typically accepted at TSA discretion. For international travel, the passport MRZ format takes precedence. Call +1 855 203 2961 and specify which ID you will use for travel so the agent matches the ticket name to the correct document.

When correcting for international travel, always reference the passport MRZ rather than the visual name field. Hyphenated names may appear without hyphens in the MRZ. Suffixes like "Jr." may be omitted entirely. Diacritical marks are removed. The agent at +1 855 203 2961 is trained on MRZ formatting and can ensure the ticket name matches correctly. Call +1 855 203 2961 with your passport open to the data page for international name corrections.

What Documents Are NOT Accepted for Name Changes?

Delta does not accept the following as documentation for name changes: self-signed affidavits or declarations without court backing, social media profile changes, employer records, school records, insurance cards, or any unofficial documentation. The name change must be supported by an official government or court document that legally establishes the new name. Library cards, gym memberships, and utility bills are also not acceptable. Call +1 855 203 2961 and confirm your document is one of the accepted types before the call.

If you have changed your name through a process not involving a court order or government document, such as adopting a new name through common law usage in states that allow it, the documentation requirements may be different and more complex. Call +1 855 203 2961 and describe your specific name change process for guidance on what documentation Delta requires for your situation.

What If You Lost Your Documentation?

If you have lost your marriage certificate, divorce decree, or court order, you can typically obtain certified copies from the issuing authority. Marriage certificates can be replaced through the county clerk or vital records office where the marriage was registered. Divorce decrees can be obtained from the court that processed the divorce. Court orders can be obtained from the issuing court. These replacement documents are certified copies with the same legal standing as the originals. Call +1 855 203 2961 and begin the name change process while waiting for the replacement document.

If obtaining a replacement document will take longer than your travel date, consider traveling with your old-name ID and keeping the ticket in the old name. Update the ticket after you receive the replacement documentation. Call +1 855 203 2961 and discuss the timing to determine the best approach for your specific travel schedule and document replacement timeline.
